

Device for, and method of, treating woody plants

A b s t r a c t

There are described a devices for the treatment of woody plants, comprising a cylindrical injection element (1) with an axial bore (2); a radial slot (3) which communicates with the bore (2) and whose longitudinal axis runs essentially parallel to the axial bore (2); a fixing element (4) and an element for connecting a reservoir (5), and a variety of embodiments of this device;

apparatuses comprising these devices, and method of using this device in the treatment of woody plants.

BEST AVAILABLE COPY